
MONTHS AGO we reported in this column that we had agreed to assist Bill Henley, school superintendent, and Mayor Charles Rose in planning an appropriate program when the cornerstone of the old Campbell Grammar School was removed.

The school, as you know, will be occupied by the West Valley College for the next five years or so. Then it will probably be torn down. Thus the days as its use as an educational institution are numbered.

The cornerstone of the building was laid in 1922, according to the date inscribed on it. Tentative plans call for it being removed and displayed for posterity.

We all thought it would be interesting to publicly open the cornerstone and view the contents.

Mayor Rose had an added incentive because he was in the fifth grade in the school at the time the cornerstone was laid. He remembers he was among the youngsters who filed by and dropped pennies into the box that was sealed in the cornerstone.

So far definite planning for any program have been shoved aside because of one thing or another. Chances are now that the unlaying ceremony will not be scheduled until almost spring.

But this is more or less to report that we haven't forgotten it.

-o-

UNFORTUNATELY the files of The Campbell Press for those past years are not complete. Otherwise it would be a big help in learning about the original program in 1922 when the cornerstone was put in place.

Since the 1940's our office has bound files of each year. But prior to that the papers are loose.

And you can imagine what that means when one tries to find a particular issue of a certain year?

But our research through the musty files has been interesting.

The difficulty is that we become too engrossed in reading the tidbits of by-gone years.

-o-

ISSUES OF 1923 of The Press have been of particular interest because the building was dedicated on April 6, 1923.

Many issues prior to the dedication, the big event was publicized in The Press by two "ears" on the front page which simply stated in big type "CAMPBELL APRIL 6."

In the issue of March 30 the dedication program appeared while the April 13 publication reported what had taken place on the big night.

The dedicatory address was given by Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction. Principal of the school was

City asks about trading park site for creek land

Campbell would be willing to trade the 7 1/2-acre city-owned Rincon park site for the controversial 10-acre parcel on the Los Gatos Creek offered for sale by Santa Clara Valley Water Conservation District for $275,000.

This was indicated at the joint study session of the Planning Commission and the City Council on Monday night on the eve of the showdown between the city and the SCVWD over the disposition of 10 acres adjoining the percolation ponds of the district.

The SCVWD has announced that the 10 acres is in excess of what is needed for the ponds and will be offered for sale as industrial land. The district has filled and compacted the land and has placed a $275,000 price tag on it.

Campbell wants the parcel to be retained as recreational land as part of the Los Gatos Creek development. But efforts to interest the county in acquiring it from the water conservation district at the $275,000 price have failed. The city is in no position to acquire the property either.

Campbell then announced that the city would rezone the land from its present M-1 (industrial) zoning to agriculture to allow recreational development. The first hearing on the rezoning has been set for December 22.

Last night another action affecting creek land was before the Planning Commission when the Planners held a hearing on an amendment to the general plan of the city that would specify creek land within the city limits to be earmarked for recreational purposes.

The trading of Rincon Park for the creek land stemmed from a suggestion of Councilman Ralph Doetsch. He said that if the trade was made the water conservation district could then dispose of the Rincon Park land at CHRISTMAS---Yuletide decorations, encompassing almost everything about the Christmas season, ranging from the Nativity Scene to comical Santa Clauses and red-nosed reindeer are springing up all over town on stores and residences. Many of the decorations are animated and many are lighted at night. Some of the home decorations have been up since Thanksgiving but this week should see the most feverish activity among the homeowners as they prepare for the joyous season. Above is the display on the fence of the residence next to Rose's Television on Central Avenue which was made by Ted Wackermann.

J.C. board defers bond issue vote

A bond election for the West Valley Joint Junior College District, tentatively set for February 16, has been postponed by the Board of Trustees.

The postponement followed a recommendation by West Valley College President Wallace W. Hall at the last board meeting:

"We believe... that, as a result of discussions with a wide number of people throughout the district who are knowledgeable in election matters, that there is a widespread feeling that there is not now sufficient time in which to complete the organization for a successful campaign."

Several trustees indicated that they, too, had talked with a number of district residents who felt that the time for the campaign was short, and they expressed agreement with Hall's recommendation.

President Hall suggested as possible alternatives:

1. Combining the bond election with the regular school trustee elections on April 20, 1965, with substantial savings due to a sharing of election costs.
2. Holding a special election, for a bond issue only, sometime during the first or second week in June, 1965.

WV College to present Christmas music program at local church

Two special Christmas programs -- one at the First Methodist Church in Campbell and the other in the college auditorium -- have been scheduled by the Music Department of West Valley College.

On Wednesday, December 16, beginning at 8 p.m. in the Methodist Church, appropriate Christmas selections will be presented by a 55-voice A Cappella Choir and Mixed Chorus and a 21-piece instrumental ensemble.

Kenneth W. Jewell, a member of the college's music department and director of the choir, will also present an organ solo, Charles Widor's Toccata in F Major. Cesare Claudio, also of the music department and director of the ensemble, will present a cello solo, David Popper's Hungarian Rhapsody. No admission will be charged.

On Friday, December 18, the groups will again perform, this time in the college auditorium, in a special program for members of the Associated Students.

WINDOWS BROKEN

Francis E. Hollum, 199 Alice Avenue, reported to the Campbell Police Department that vandals have broken two windows in their guest house which is located in the rear of the main house. Police advised they would patrol the area.

Repellent didn't repell

A Campbell postman is nursing a dog bite this week because the new-fangled repellent issued by the Post Office Dept. didn't repel!

Fred Flores, 30, attempting to deliver mail at 204 Calado Ave., was attacked and bitten by the dog and suffered severe lacerations of his right leg. He was taken to the Campbell Hospital for a tetanus shot.

According to Postmaster James Hurley, Flores sprayed the dog with the irritant, but could not stop the animal's attack. The dog was finally captured by the County Health Department officer and the owner, Mrs. Alameda Hargis, 1739 San Tomas Rd., allowed the dog to be held for 15 days at the Animal Shelter for observation.

Up the creek--

The hassle over what is to be done about the 10 acres of reclaimed land on the Los Gatos Creek near Camden Avenue is rapidly reaching proportions that we are certain the directors of the Santa Clara Valley Water Conservation District, owners of the parcel, never dreamed were possible.

The SCVWCD recently announced that the district had 10 acres of reclaimed land in excess of what was needed for 80 acres of percolation ponds along Los Gatos Creek and that the district planned to sell the parcel for industrial use at the asking price of $275,000.

The entire 10-acres lies within the city limits of Campbell. Campbell officials immediately indicated that they felt the land should be retained for parks and recreational uses as part of the overall development program for the entire creek.

The directors indicated their willingness to have any other public agency acquire the land. In fact they conceded that it would be better used for recreational purposes. But it would have to be sold for $275,000.

When Campbell officials could not receive any tangible support from other county bodies, it was decided to rezone the land in question and earmark all creek land for parks and recreational use. The city is now in the process of doing just that.

Support for retaining the land for recreational use has been slow in coming. But the momentum is gradually increasing. Under the direction of the Inter-Service Club Committee of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, petitions have been circulated to be submitted to the city asking that the 10 acres be retained for recreational purposes.

Support for Campbell's stand has also been received from "Santa Clara County Citizens for Parks and Open Space."

This group was originally formed, at the request of the Board of Supervisors, to review the capital improvement bond proposals and make recommendations.

According to the committee's recent report, "The group which considered parks and recreation became so enthusiastic about the subject that we decided to continue meeting, in hopes of forming the nucleus of a permanent organization for citizens concerned about parks and open space."

In the first of the periodic letters of the committee, the group blasts the Santa Clara Valley Water Conservation District for its attitude with respect to the 10 acres of reclaimed land along the creek for which SCVWCD wants $275,000. "Is this where you want your precious park money to go?", the committee asks in the letter.

And the committee in its letter even goes further. It questions the need for the existence of Santa Clara Valley Water Conservation District in the first place.

We quote:

"Our committee feels that this action is outrageous, and is recommending to local legislators that the District be abolished and its functions consolidated with those of the County Flood Control."

According to the committee, the water conservation district is one of "the many special districts which, though they add enormously to our tax burden, are not subject to county control. Its directors, technically elected by the people, in fact have virtually permanent tenure. Although its functions overlap those of the County Flood Control in nearly every respect, it continues to levy its own tax, own its own property, and deal with this property as if it were a private developer instead of an agency charged with the public interest."

As we said, we do not believe the directors of SCVWCD realized when they became involved in this $275,000 real estate transaction affecting 10 acres of reclaimed creek land that the issue would grow to such a proportion.

Undoubtedly the Santa Clara Valley Water Conservation District can build a case and "prove" that it has a very useful function to perform.

But the committee members of the "Santa Clara County Citizens for Parks and Open Space" have aroused our curiousity with their pointed question.

We, too, would like to know how much duplication is involved and how much overlapping there is between the flood control and the water conservation district.

One agency apparently channels the water. The other conserves it. Is it the same water?

Joseph A. Connor was president of the board of trustees and Joseph E. Hancock county superintendent of schools.

The teaching staff was also listed in the program. The enrollment was 550.

FEW OF THE NAMES listed in the program ring a bell today especially to those of us who arrived on the scene years later. That is with one exception.

We note that Mrs. Ralph Hyde, long-time civic leader and still active in our community life, was a soloist. She is the mother of Homer Hyde, of the Campbell Water Co., which was founded by the Hyde family.

The reporter wrote of the soloists: "The solos of Miss Olive Burgess, a former teacher in the school and those by our own popular soloists, Mrs. Ralph Hyde and L. J. Carboni, were all delightful and the audience would gladly have heard more, but the length of the program was prohibitive."

-o-

AT THE TIME the school was estimated to cost $155,000, a considerable hunk of dough in those days.

The community was mighty proud of the edifice and 1500 turned out for the dedicatory program.

"Very often a long anticipated event fails in realization to meet the expectations of its promoters but such was not the case with the dedicatory exercises of the Campbell Union Grammar School held on Friday evening..."

Some of State Superintendent Wood's remarks were also quoted. They make interesting reading today:

"Campbell has reason to be proud of this school and of the things for which it hopes to make it stand...I am dedicating it to fundamentals. The three fundamentals in life are food, clothing and shelter.

"So that learning to properly prepare food, to work with the hands, to raise the voice in song, are not fads of education but fundamentals.

..."I am glad to be here and extend the greetings of the people of the state and to bring greetings of the school system with its 900,000 children..."

That was 41 years ago.

-o-

THERE WERE MANY other items in the four-page paper that provoked our interest..

For example, it was reported that 120 members of the Orchard City Grange had met to celebrate the Grange's 20th birthday... (That was in 1923. The Orchard City Grange is still going strong in Campbell today.)

Another story in the April 13 issue told of the Missionary Society of the Congregational Church was in charge of the service on the previous Sunday.

The story reported that the society had just completed the study of a book, "The Trend of the Races" by a remarkably brilliant negro, George E. Haynes."... The report continues: The history, economic condition, educational advancement of the negroes, with other subjects were presented...

An item in the March 30, 1923 issue reveals that the directors of the County Woman's Club had met with Architect H. W. Higbie and opened bids for the new library.

"The lowest bid was that of Mr. C. F. Keesling of Coe Avenue, San Jose but it was considerably over the amount of money pledged for the building."

The story concludes with the statement that the bid was accepted and the club directors were authorized to borrow up to $2500 if necessary.

City Council faces varied items on Monday's agenda

Employee health insurance, condemnation for civic center property, and the financial situation of the city will be among the agenda items facing the City Council next Monday, December 14.

In addition, the Council will discuss the various proposals and costs for erecting a flag pole at the city hall and probably take action on a number of suggestions made at the joint study session between the Planning Commission and City Council held Monday.

The latest developments in the controversial 10-acre Los Gatos Creek land controversy will also be looked into at the council meeting.

City employees are divided in their thinking as to what carrier should have the city's group health plan. The council will hear reports on this matter.

City Manager Bob Stephens will also give a financial report of the city showing the expenditures to date and the projections for the rest of the fiscal year.

The Council is also expected to act on instituting condemnation proceedings to obtain a house on First St. that adjoins the city-owned parking lot as part of the civic center complex. Recently the city purchased the house next to the house in question.

market value putting it back on the tax rolls. Meanwhile the city would gain a better park site.

But before the commissioners and councilmen indicated they would go for a trade, the city's attitude in announcing the intentions to rezone the 10 acres was labeled "hard-nosed" by Commissioner Homer Hyde.

Hyde claimed that this attitude would alienate the directors of the water conservation district to such an extent that neither the city nor the SCVWCD would gain in the long run.

Group to form to push bonds

Announcement of the formation of a Citizens Committee to campaign for passage of a $7.38 million bond measure at a March 2, 1965 special election has been made by Stephen Goodman, manager and engineer of County Sanitation District No. 4, the West Valley sewer utility.

The bonds would finance the capital improvements needed, according to Goodman.

First meeting of the group will be held at the Citizens Committee headquarters, the Blendwell Interiors Building, 143 Campbell Avenue, Campbell, Monday evening, December 14 at 7:30 P. M.

A general chairman will be named at that time, as well as the sub-committee chairman handling specialized phases of the campaign.

Your PG&E bill goes up in the winter, too.

Colder temperatures and longer nights increase your use of gas and electricity for heating and lighting your house. You spend more time indoors reading, cooking hot meals, using radio and TV sets and appliances. And that means a bigger PG&E bill. (In the spring, your bill starts down again.) But since 1961, there have been 3 major reductions in PG&E rates. Today the typical customer pays less than 30 years ago for the same amount of gas and electicity. Which means, whatever the season, PG&E service is a bigger bargain than ever.

Though this nation has tried to maintain its transportation systems as a part of private enterprise, the original encouragement for new developments and progress has almost always come from government. Now it appears that if the future of air transportation is not to stall on dead center another federal "shot in the arm" is required.

When a developing America grew away from river waterways and wilderness trails, the Federal government realized that privately owned turnpikes and toll roads would never fill the national need. In 1811 it started construction of the Cumberland Road which finally reached Vandalia, Illinois, in 1852.

In 1817 Governor De Witt Clinton of New York started the successful Erie Canel which was to become one of a vast eastern network of economical waterways.

The Baltimore and Ohio was chartered in 1827 but by 1860 there were only 30,626 miles of American railroad. So Federal inducement to build transcontinental roads and keep pace with the national need came with subsidies. Alternate sections of public land twenty miles in width were given along a right-of-way and Santa Fe was given 6,400 acres of land for each mile of road it built. Outright cash subsidies and state aid were added inducements.

Automobile development was held back until passage of the Federal "Good Roads Bill" in 1916. After an appropriation of $85 million for the first year, grants were soon increased to $200 million and now amount to billions in annual budgets.

The urgent need for a merchant marine in World War I resulted in the spending of $4 billion for private merchant ships and a program of shipbuilding subsidy which is still with us. Without the program no merchant ships could be built within the United States.

The development of the airplane brought a Federal airport program, airmail subsidies and programs to promote flight safety and improve navigation. Massive government purchases of military aircraft got the aircraft industry "off the ground" in World War I and made it big business in World War II. The cold war kept aircraft assembly lines humming until 1962 when Secretary McNamara decided to get out of the bomber business.

Aircraft development is fantastically expensive. The first Supersonic Transport (SST) will represent an investment of more than $2 billion. Convair built a fine commercial aircraft in their 880-990 series and lost $250 million doing it. Douglas has yet to break even on their successful DC-8's. Only Boeing, with its 707, has made a profit on building passenger aircraft because the Air Force purchased hundreds of them for use as KC-135 jet tankers. Otherwise, Boeing too would have lost.

THAT FEMININE TOUCH

By

Dolores Keywood

Rain wear that doesn't look like rain wear is what women have wanted for years. At last, your wish has been granted.

There are coats and capes, with or without hoods.

Coats are belted or left boxy. The most interesting and probably the newest in the rain coat department is the one with the flaired back and belted or tied front.

Capes, too, you will find in different styles. The full length cape is probably the most practical, but the seven eighths length is very chic. Some are quite roomy and make a complete circle when laid out flat. Others have that new narrow, skinny and tapered look.

You'll have your choice of plaids, checks, stripes, prints and solid colors.

Fabrics vary even more than colors but they are all water repellent. Probably one of the most interesting here, is the vinyl, since it looks so much like leather until you get to the price tag.

Corduroy is still very popular and often comes hooded or with a hat.

Tweeds are always very smart and generally look smart, come rain or shine.

Treated Velveteen may be worn in the evening without anyone ever knowing this is a rain coat.

Many capes and coats are reversible, which of course, makes them even more versatile.

A favorite of everyone's, is the classic trench coat that has been popular for years and will continue to be for years to come, I'm sure.

Always available are umbrellas that match or may be coordinated with any rain costume.

The new booted look is very important for wet weather ensembles and if they are not already treated, there are products on the market you can apply yourself, for just this purpose.

So if you're in the market for a new rain outfit, take much care to select and coordinate it and you will probably be wearing it for several winters to come.

PI BETA PHI

The annual Christmas White Elephant Party has become a holiday tradition for the local chapter of Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club. This year's party will be held at the home of Mrs. W.J. Osgood, 20076 Peach Tree Lane, on Wednesday, Dec. 16.

Each member is requested to bring a gaily wrapped cast-off, the more humorous, the better.

Grange elects Al McCoy

Orchard City Grange held election of officers for the coming year at the November meeting. Al McCoy was elected Master for 1965. Other officers chosen were Perrin Martin, Overseer, Alfrieda Van Nattor, Lecturer, Leslie Fairchild, Steward, Zelia Martin, Secretary; Elmer Hoerler, Assistant Steward; George Wommer, Gatekeeper; Dorothy Tyson, Chaplain; Maye McCoy, Pomona; Louise Fairchild, Ceres; Goldie Glick, Flora; Lucille Hoerler, Lady Assistant Steward; Nila Jones, Musician; Lee Glick, Execu. Comm. for one year; Adeen Dooley, Exec. Committee, three years.

Formal installation was held Sunday, Dec. 6, at the Santa Clara County Fairgrounds.

The Grange Christmas Party will be held at the Hall on Tuesday, December 22, for members, relatives and friends. Gifts for children must be plainly marked with the child's name and placed under the tree. The program will begin at 8:00 p.m.

Garden Club has annnal Christmas tea

The annual Christmas Tea of the Campbell Garden Club will be held today in the Fireside Room of the Congregational Church of Campbell at 1:30 p.m.

The program will be presented by Mrs. Paul Otten who will demonstrate the making of many beautiful Christmas decorations. Mrs. Jack Maffey will be in charge of the tea which will follow the program. A number of guests have been invited. Mrs. Edmond Pate, District Director of Santa Clara County Garden Clubs will be an honored guest.

Under the direction of Therapy Chairman, Mrs. Mary Finigan, a group of club members have been conducting workshops for members and guests of Brandon House in San Jose on making decorations to make their residence more cheerful for the holiday season. Material was donated by the club and Mrs. Merrill Mack, club president.

Camp Fire Girls plan Craft Fair

The Campbell-Cambrian Camp Fire Girls invite Christmas shoppers to drop by the Campbell High School Cafeteria Saturday, December 12, to see the many novelties they have made which would make excellent "Stocking stuffers." The Sixth Annual Craft Fair of the local Camp Fire Girls will be held from 2 until 4 p.m. You can browse to your hearts content and no two craft booths are alike.

Colored Slides

Colonel Harry L. Mayfield of Campbell, local camera enthusiast, will show color slides loaned by several Camera Clubs to the members of the Los Gatos Art Association on Saturday, December 12. The occasion is the Christmas Program of the organization to be held at the Art Center, 19010 Austin Way, Los Gatos, at 2 p.m. The Gallery is open to the public on Wednesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday each week from 2 until 5 P.M.

The Manuel Vintros celebrate fifty years

The Golden Wedding Anniversary of longtime Campbell residents, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Vintro, 100 No. 3rd St. was celebrated at a buffet dinner party at the home of the couple's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Vintro of Jones Way.

Over 50 relatives and close friends attended the happy event which featured a sumptious buffet supper and a beautiful three tiered wedding cake, cut by the happy couple. The table, beautifully appointed was decorated with a gold and white color scheme.

Mr. and Mrs. Vintro were married November 26, 1914 in East Taunton, Massachussetts. They have made their home in Campbell since 1921. Now retired, Mr. Vintro was formerly an Employee of Food Machinery Corporation and the Campbell High School District. In addition to their son, George, they had another son, Manuel Jr., now deceased.

The Vintros were also honored by the members of St. Lucy's Altar Society, who presented Mrs. Vintro with a gift in commemoration of the couple's fiftieth anniversary.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

By Gladstone A. Boquist
Field Representative

Q. I was forced to retire from my job when I reached 65. I then started a small business of my own from which I have net earnings of about $2500 a year. I thought that as long as I worked full time, I wasn't eligible for benefits. Yet some of my friends informed me that they are receiving some benefits even though they are working. Can this be so?

A. Yes, it is possible to continue working and still receive some benefits. Under the social security law, you can earn up to $1200 a year and receive all your benefits. If your earnings exceed $1200, you lose $1 in benefits for each $2 you earn between $1200 and $1700. On earnings above $1700 you lose $1 in benefits for each $1 in earnings. Inquire at your local social security office as soon as possible to see whether you may be entitled to some benefits.

Q. What should I do if I go to work and expect to earn over $1200 this year? I am receiving old-age benefits under social security. My wife and children also receive benefits. What happens if they go to work?

A. You should report this information to your Social Security Office either in person or on the card (Form OAC-669), which was given to you when you applied for social security benefits. Be sure to give the name of the person about whom the report is made and his social security claim number.

Q. When is the proper time to apply for social security disability insurance benefits?

A. Although there is a 6-month waiting period from the date a disability began, in most cases the Social Security Administration can begin processing a claim after the 3rd month. Early application means that payments can be made without unnecessary delay after the waiting period is completed.

Q. I had a heart attack 3 years ago and haven't been able to work since. Can I get disability payments dating back to my first month of disability?

A. You can receive payments retroactive only 1 year from the month you file your claim. Therefore, you have lost a substantial amount of money in not filing your claim sooner.

New highway signs discourage wrong way driving on freeway

State-wide installation of two new signs will take place during the next few months as another step in the continuing program of the California Division of Highways to discourage drivers from entering freeways in the wrong direction.

Red-background signs bearing the message WRONG WAY will be placed on each side of all off-ramps, near the exit points. The letters will be white on the red background and both colors will be highly reflective. The signs will not be visible to drivers proceeding in the proper direction.

On-ramps will be identified by signs that read FREEWAY ENTRANCE. This reassuring message will also be in white letters, but on the standard green background which motorists associate with normal State highway directional signs.

The red and green backgrounds were purposely selected because of the respective "Stop" and "Go" situations most people identify with them.

Although the new signs have been officially approved for installation, it will take several months before the signs can be procured and installed at all the approximate 5,000 ramps included in the freeway system, according to State Highway Engineer J. C. Womack.

In some off-ramp locations, two experimental devices will be tested in conjunction with the new signs.

The first is a reflective pavement arrow visible only at night. It consists of a series of inconspicuous plastic wedges that pick up the beams of automobile headlights aimed in the wrong direction and transforms them into a red arrow pointed at the oncoming vehicle.

The second is an auxiliary white and red sign that reads GO BACK - YOU ARE GOING WRONG WAY. Single installations will be made on the right side at the approximate midway point of all off-ramps in the San Francisco Bay Area. They will be visible only to wrong-way traffic.

Womack expressed the hope that the new devices will prove effective in curbing at least some of the eight percent of freeway fatal accidents now caused by wrong-way movements. These accidents result in 30 to 35 deaths each year. He pointed out that the fatalities include not only offenders but many innocent persons who were proceeding in the right direction.

Womack cited a recent study by the Division of Highways which indicates that approximately 50 percent of the wrong-way drivers enter freeways at off-ramps.

The study also revealed that approximately one-third of the offenders had been drinking -- and more important -- that drinking drivers were the offenders in 85 percent of wrong-way fatal accidents.

Womack hoped the signs will have a positive effect on even drinking drivers, but observed that they are "an extremely difficult group to reach with a safety message."

All the devices have enjoyed a high degree of success at an Interstate 80 on-and-off ramp northeast of Sacramento where they have been installed for several weeks, according to traffic engineers.

New play opens at Geary for six-day run

Edward Albee's "Who Afraid of Virgi Woolf?", cited by th New York Dram Critics as the Bes Play of the 1962-6 season, will return t San Francisco to pla a six-day engagement a the Geary Theatre beginning Monday, December 14 through Saturday, December 19.

Because of the play' length (it runs for thre hours and twenty minutes), all evening performances of "Virgini Woolf" will begi promptly at 8 p.m. with the Wednesday an Saturday matinees beginning at 2 p.m.

Starred in the Evening Company are Vick Cummings and Kenda Clark, in the roles o Martha and George, disillusioned coupl whose marriage is disintegrating in a re haze of alcohol and insult. A strange wil humor is threade through their vituperation, so Mr. Albee's barbed phrases have way of provoking laughter as well as shocke recognition.

So demanding are these leading roles tha they are played at all matinee performances by two other stars Fayne Blackburn and William Gibberson. This same procedure (separate matinee and evening companies) has been followed in New York and the National Company on tour.

Bryarly Lee and Donald Briscoe play a younger married couple, Nick and Honey, at all performances.

Produced by Richard Barr and Clinton Wilder, "Virginia Woolf" has been directed by Alan Schneider. The production was designed by William Ritman.

Edward Albee's first play, "The Zoo Story," opened off-Broadway some four years ago, and instantly established him as a playwright of inordinate promise.

Del Mar Sports

By Steve Ells

The main event of last week's activities was the sixth annual Fall Sports Banquet. This banquet is held every year after the fall sports conclude their seasons. During the banquet block letters and other awards are handed out.

The high spot of the banquet came when Al Mathews, varsity football coach, introduced Mr. Rediker, who presented the second annual Don Y. Rediker award. This award is given for the most improved varsity football player. This award is named for Don Rediker, a deceased Del Mar High School student and varsity football player. Jay Garrett, senior starting center won the award this year.

The all league awards were announced at the banquet. On the offensive squad Rod Crisp, senior guard, got an honorable mention. On defense the Dons did better. On the first team was Mike Freitas, junior tackle, also winner of the Lions' Club annual award for the best lineman; Bob Bronzan, senior defensive end; Tom Greenley, senior defensive halfback, also winner of the Lions' Club best backfieldman award; and Dave Rodarte, senior linebacker were all given honorable mention.

In the B football division the Little Dons also showed well on the all league ballotting. Barry Reynolds, freshman fullback, was voted onto the all league team by every coach in the league. He was joined on the team by Joe Aiello, senior linebacker and Clayton Chu, sophomore linebacker. Those receiving honorable mention were Rich Conte and Dennis Murphy.

On Thursday, December 2, there was an interschool wrestling meet for Del Mar students. To qualify a contestant had to not have wrestled for the varsity in past years. The results will be in next week's paper.

City may block "conversions"

No dwelling within the city limits will be able to be converted into an office, if the suggestion made at the study session Monday of the Planning Commission and City Council is carried out.

The combined groups also indicated that they favored a ban on the moving of houses into Campbell from outside the city limits. Houses can only be moved out of the city or within the city, if the suggestion is carried out.

The two city bodies also indicated that they favored commercial zoning on the extension of Hamilton Avenue rather than only in spots.

For some years the city has had an ordinance that prevents dwellings being transformed into businesses but the conversion into offices has been allowed. If the suggestion made Monday is put into ordinance form, professional offices and businesses will be put in the same category as far as conversions are concerned.

The history of telephoning is a history of change—from the first commercial shoebox-like phone of 1877 down to the pretty, little Princess phone of today. Telephone scientists are continually at work, developing and testing new ideas in phones of the future—like the one which lets you see the person you're talking to. Every change is made for one reason: to make your telephone serve you better.

On Christmas day, 33 years ago, telephone lines carried the first radio broadcast of a complete opera—"Hansel and Gretel." It was transmitted coast-to-coast from the Metropolitan Opera House in New York.

It's wise to have a list of emergency phone numbers on hand. But, if you don't and need help fast, just dial zero for Operator. She has all vital numbers and the training to meet emergencies. Just give her your name and number and as much information as you can. And, here's a tip for making a "0" call in the dark: The "0" is the first dial opening below the stop bar.

Did you hear about the man who planned to dine at all the restaurants listed in the Yellow Pages of a big city's phone book? Fortunately, he can find REDUCING METHODS in that same book.

Christmas... a time for joy and thankful prayer for giving gifts to show we care for children's laughs and sparkling eyes and gala feasts and pumpkin pies for songs and carols, old and new and Christmas trees and stockings too for loved-ones traveling far and near to share this special time of year
...whatever Christmas means to you add our "Best Wishes" the whole year through.

CHRISTMAS PARTIES are beginning to crop up here and there. LOCKHEED management will charter five buses Saturday night to travel to the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco for dinner-dancing. Many West Valley couples will be among those attending... Campbell Elementary School District Administrators are receiving invitations to a Christmas Open House on December 20 at the Capitola Home of MR. AND MRS. WAYNE FONTES. Fontes is principal of Blackford School. Did you know that some years back, Fontes was an outstanding boxer at San Jose State College?... The staffs of both the Campbell Branch and the Hamilton Plaza Branch of the Bank of America are looking forward to Friday night, December 11, when they will gather to celebrate the holiday season at Villa Felice...Another Christmas party at Villa Felice was held last night by the Campbell Lions Club and their ladies...

MRS. C.W. VICKLAND (Joanne) of Parkview Avenue will be hostess to members of the Carousel Chapter of the Children's Home Society for their annual Christmas party tomorrow evening. Entertainment will include a gift exchange and a holiday dessert...

Christmas Lighting contests are also springing up all over the area. Most tracts in the community sponsor their own, but there is one, open to all residents of the County to honor the best decorated and illuminated homes. To participate, all displays must be entered on the official entry blank which may be obtained from the PG&E, 86 So. Third St., San Jose...

MR. AND MRS. ALFRED JOHNSON of Milton Avenue attended the National Rifle Association Valley League Shoot at Coalinga this past week-end. Nine sharpshooters from the Chipmonk Rifle Club participated...

RESIDENTS of West Campbell Avenue, near Winchester, look on sadly as bulldozers tear up their sidewalks and front yards, knock over palm trees and hedges, as the City goes ahead with the widening of the street. Although it is a great improvement for traffic, it is depressing for the property owners who must stand by and watch the ordeal...

JACK FISCHER, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Fischer of Almarida Drive, is expected home from San Francisco State College for the Christmas holidays...MR. AND MRS. TOM PETTIT of Mt. Vernon Drive entertained the members of their Couples Bridge Club for their annual Christmas party...THE GEORGE VAN SICKLES of Cabana Drive will hold a Christmas "Open House" at their new Aptos summer home..

Campbell family routed by fire

A sleeping Campbell family was awakened early Sunday morning when fire broke out in the attached garage of their three-bedroom home.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Sandberg, 114 Dot Avenue, were not injured by the flames that broke out about 3 a.m. Firemen had the blaze under control in an hour.

Captain Jerry Gomes of the Campbell Fire Department said the fire was detected by Mrs. Sandberg who heard glass in a door leading from the garage burst in the heat. She woke other members of the family and then called the department. Cause of the fire is still being investigated. Gomes said the flames were confined mostly to the garage but that heat and smoke did heavy damage to other parts of the house.
